Symbols Represent Spirit of Achievement At Goldsboro High School

At Goldsboro High School every aspect of school life holds a special meaning for the students. With each new venture that the students undertake, they accompany the pursuance of their goal with enthusiasm, will, and determination. Their search for knowledge is the emphasis upon which all academic endeavors are placed. Their cultural fulfillment they achieve through aesthetic participation. Their physical abilities they improve through the outstanding athletic program. In the course of their many activities, the students strive to work together for a common benefit, and thus reach a final goal.

To the Gobisca staff these four main areas of concentration and achievement are represented by the symbols on the shield: academics, by the open book of knowledge; aesthetics, by the lyre and mask; athletics, by the Earthquake insignia surrounded by the victory wreath; and activities, by the quill and gavel. These areas, all a part of student life, can be molded into the ethical code represented by the words, "With knowledge, understanding."

Typical GHS Spirit Assures Students of

Eagerness to make 1967 outstanding stimulated students to prepare early for the magazine drive.

Another Successful Year

The spirit of Goldsboro High School is its claim to greatness. Perhaps no other student activity affords such evidence of this tremendous school spirit as does the annual magazine drive. Class competition is at its height and each individual works hard to do his best for himself and his class. But it is the willingness to work together as a school that makes the magazine drive such a success and makes this event typical of Goldsboro High spirit. Working for a common goal, the students are content only when that goal is attained. To surpass their goal is both a victory and a challenge, for such is the spirit of GHS: its students ever strive to set higher goals and win greater victories for their school.

(Right) Typical of spirited assembly programs was the one presented by the World History class who sang out for patriotism.

(Below) Maynard Ernest, Bobbie Simmons, Bert Ward, Richard Thornton, and Lauri Crone became familiar with phases of the National Headstart program at Walnut Street School during the summer session of Sociology.

GHS Stresses

Spirit is not the only goal that GHS seeks; perfection is as important in the students' daily activities. Scholastically, they strive to reach higher goals. With new science labs and equipment, students not only have expanded facilities for biology, chemistry, and physics, but also have the opportunity to work first-hand with electronics and combustion engines. Interest in physical education is heightened with added emphasis on intramural sports.

Ed Wooters, Maynard Ernest, and Sally Jo Tart are engrossed in the wonders which the new science lab has opened to them.

Ken Kirk (right) practices hurdle jumping as he gets in shape for another season of track.

Perfection In Every Area

Perfection, too, is sought in student activities. The students ever search for the new and worthwhile, which they blend with the best of the past. From the opening of that magazine drive for which GHS is famous, to the homecoming parade and stunt night, the classes meet and compete, but at the same time learn to work together, play together, laugh together, sing together. They learn as they compete, and in the final analysis what they produce is a smooth-working unit known as Goldsboro High School.

Edna Earl Waters, Chris Turrone, and Justin Heath busily work stuffing napkins into chicken wire, a typical scene when homerooms prepare for the homecoming parade.

The new singout fad which is sweeping the country arrives at GHS.

In spring, summer, fall, and winter GHS is the center of activity and learning.

GHS Encompasses Old and New Ideals

Although the halls of GHS retain the flavor of tradition, expansion and development are evident in its buildings and curriculum. Its walls encompass twelve hundred fifty students and fifty-four faculty members whose ideals are designed to answer the challenges of the future. These students and teachers, through the expansion of facilities and additions in curriculum, work together to attain a common understanding of the four basic areas—academics, aesthetics, athletics, and activities—which symbolize GHS. Through amalgamation of the old and the new, they prepare themselves to provide what is truly progress.

Gohisca Is Dedicated To A Dedicated Man

In seeking to dedicate the 1967 Gohisca, which to the students represents a year of work and accomplishment, the staff wishes to recognize a person truly representative of its ideals. In finding a man who is an outstanding teacher, coach, and advisor, we found too, an outstanding friend, a man whose service and value to GHS is unquestioned.

The staff presents this book knowing that it has chosen one who truly deserves the gift of a year's memories. To Mr. Gerald Whisenhunt this 1967 Gohisca is dedicated.

Coach Whisenhunt shows his talent for guiding as teacher, coach, father, and advisor.

ACADEMICS

New this year to the administration of Goldsboro city schools, the Central Office houses equipment and aids that enrich the GHS program.

ADMINISTRATION

School Board Sees GHS Needs On Personal Tours

Dedicated members of the Goldsboro School Board serve without pay to help guide GHS to high standards of achievement. On this board, capably guided by Mr. W. A. Dees, Jr., falls the responsibility of eight elementary, two junior high, and two high schools.

This year, in order to be closer to specific needs, the board members began holding monthly meetings in the various school buildings, touring each prior to their business sessions. In this way, they gain a personal knowledge of each school that enables them to plan wisely the policies and procedures of the administrative unit.

Mr. William A. Dees, Jr. (above) guides the business sessions and activities of the Goldsboro School Board. Discussing current business of the city schools are board members (below): Mr. Dees, Mrs. William D. Ray, Mr. Lloyd Fonville, Mr. George E. Wilson, Mr. William H. Boyer, Mr. Robert W. Powell, Mrs. Ashton T. Griffin, III.

Superintendent Wins Respect of All GHS

When Mr. Jerry D. Paschal assumed his responsibilities as superintendent of Goldsboro City Schools, he expressed a determination to know each school and its problems first hand. His frequent and welcome visits to GHS prove that he means just that. Never too busy to stop for a chat during those visits, he has won the respect of both students and teachers at GHS.

Mr. Paschal, a native of Oklahoma, attended Duke University and High Point College, and before coming to Goldsboro as assistant superintendent last year, had served as principal of schools in Lexington and Chadbourne, and as the first principal of Wayne County's Charles B. Aycock High School.

Mr. Jerry Paschal's busy schedule never excludes time for a friendly greeting.

Capably assisting the new superintendent is a newcomer to the locality, Mr. S. C. Chandler, a native of Sumter, S. C.

Mr. Leon E. Davenport (above) is the superintendent's business assistant, and Mr. Hal Plonk (below) is the supervisor of secondary education.

Mr. Clement W. Twiford has been for twenty-five years Goldsboro High School's principal.

Formerly a football player, he boosts GHS football. Formerly a UNC wrestler, he encourages the wrestling team. For twenty-five years principal of Goldsboro High School, he continues to be the strongest supporter a teenager can have, for his philosophy of education includes a trust in the individual student.

Mr. C. W. Twiford is all those things to GHS. And he is a community booster, too, for he is an active member of the Rotary Club, the Touchdown club, and St. Paul Methodist Church. He is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, where he received both his BS and Master's degrees. His interest in education extends from his memberships in national associations to the encouragement of the individual at GHS.

In July of this year Mr. Twiford moves to the Central Office as secondary education supervisor. The halls will seem strange without him. GHS rejoices, however, that he will continue to be a working part of the Goldsboro Administrative Unit.

Mr. C. W. Twiford Encourages Individual Students

Assistant Principal Supervises Bus Drivers, Handles GHS Records

As assistant principal, Mr. Charles E. Waller supervises such areas as textbook distribution and records, audio-visual equipment, class attendance, and lunchroom procedures.

One of his most important jobs is the direction of the eleven school buses, and their drivers and alternates, that transport more than 800 students a day to and from the secondary and elementary schools. Mr. Waller personally selects only the most qualified drivers from the applications he receives.

New to the GHS administration this year, Mr. Waller bears varied responsibilities.

Mrs. Ferrell G. Dabbs

Mrs. Pearl Little

Two new teachers' aids, just added to the staff this year, help out with varied tasks in the offices of the guidance counsellor and the assistant principal.

From answering phone calls to making bank deposits, Mrs. Nadine Howell capably runs the main office of GHS. With new personnel added to the office force this year, such routine tasks as transcripts are accomplished quickly and efficiently, leaving time for the secretaries to aid teachers in typing and mimeographing tests.

All important to the office force and the students this year, too, is the healthroom. Manned by trained parent-volunteers, their office accepts the responsibility of making decisions about student illnesses, problems that formerly fell to Mrs. Howell and the office staff.

Office Force Helps GHS Function Smoothly

Mrs. Nadine Howell (above) always has a smile for office visitors, students and teachers alike. Mrs. Alberta Pariseau (above right), registrar, finds that the office phone is a constant interrupter. Mrs. Sally Crawford and Mrs. Beulah May (right), co-chairmen of the health room, find themselves constantly in demand.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Edgerton (left) students and teachers are fed each day, and visiting guests are welcomed to the cafeteria. Cafeteria workers (above) are always prompt as they serve the daily lunches.

Service to GHS Provided by Capable Staffs

Without the services of such special people as the cafeteria staff and the custodians, GHS would not function efficiently. All important to the students, for instance, is the cafeteria where over 1,200 students and teachers are fed each day.

Also important are the school's custodians who are responsible for the building's care and cleanliness. They are the ones who maintain the proper heat in the winter, and who are often called on to see that the building is ready for special functions.

Charged with the daily care of the building, Alonza Cherry and Hattie McClean (above) are dedicated figures at GHS. They arrive early (left) to see that everything is ready for another day of classes.

Providing stimulating courses for GHS students is the aim of such earnest faculty members as Mr. James Jackson of the math department.

FACULTY and CURRICULUM

Library, Guidance Are Aids to Learning

Library Serves As Learning Center

One of the outstanding areas in GHS this year is the expanded library, ably run by Mrs. Sara Getsinger, who is interested in helping each student with his problem. She is equally interested in keeping the library filled with materials that both students and teachers need, from special books to filmstrips and complete facts on audio-visual materials.

Guidance Office Provides Varied Service

Besides her all important job of counselling students on present studies, college applications, and vocational choice, Mrs. Beatrice Balkcum accepts the further responsibility of daily attendance records and absentee cards.

Too, she guides a committee designed to consider policies dealing with the welfare of the school and the student body.

Drafting has become a popular course for those GHS students who are interested in pursuing further study in some field of design.

Explaining to his students one of the finer points of type-setting is Mr. Eugene Roberts whose class in printing supplies many of the needs of GHS.

Vocational Courses Apply Theories

Designed to give students intensive training in trades and specialized skills, GHS offers a varied program of vocational courses. The courses are designed to offer practical application as well as theory in such areas as electronics, printing, engines, and drafting.

Those students who are interested in the business field are able, through the cooperation of local merchants and craftsmen, to work with various stores and industries in the area. Other students receive a specialized background that will prepare them for advanced study.

In learning the technical problems involved in internal combustion engines, Mr. Gainey's students work directly with the engines themselves.

Enjoying the facilities of the new electronics lab, Mr. Wallace's students learn to practically apply the theories from their electronics course, though Nick Bryant, (above right) admits that it's a bit complicated.

During the entire school year, students in Diversified Education Classes spend no less than fifteen hours per week on their jobs under adult supervision. The DE student attends regular classes, too, which enable him to graduate with the required units while he prepares for a future job.

Experience and Theory Train Students in

VOCATIONAL STUDENTS TRAIN FOR THE FUTURE:

J. Warren studies TV repair;

D. Carter learns carpentry;

T. Smith studies architectural drafting;

D. Faircloth

Members of Mr. McRoy's Industrial Cooperative Training courses find that an organized group can be an individual asset, so they elected officers to guide them. Members of the group are (above, row 1) Buddy Bass, Tommy Smith, Tom Harrison, Craig Capps, Donald Faircloth, James Faircloth, Jimmy Jones; (row 2) Dean Webb, Harvey Parrish, James Turnage, Jack Tucker, Curtis Laursen, Ray Smith; (row 3) Ray Peary, Danny Parrish, Ted Strickland, Greg Thomas, Michael Overholt; (row 4) James Johnson, David Carter, Sammy Womble, Bill Barwick, Jerry Warren, Mr. McRoy; (Row 5) James Driver, Reggie Ferguson, Eugene Bennett, James Allen, Prentis Vinson, Kenneth Porter. Officers of the group are (below) Donald Faircloth, treasurer; Mr. McRoy, advisor; Jerry Warren, president; Tommy Smith, secretary.

Industrial Cooperative Training students, too, work at the jobs of their choice as they earn credit in regular curriculum courses. Like DE students, they are prepared, by graduation day, to assume responsible positions in the community. These courses are usually open to both juniors and seniors.

Fitness Program Continues

Spirited and serious, PE boys get set for a game of touch football.

Physical fitness continues to be important to GHS. Required of each physically-abled student, the physical education program is designed to build a healthy body, a sportsmanlike attitude, and an interest in clean competition.

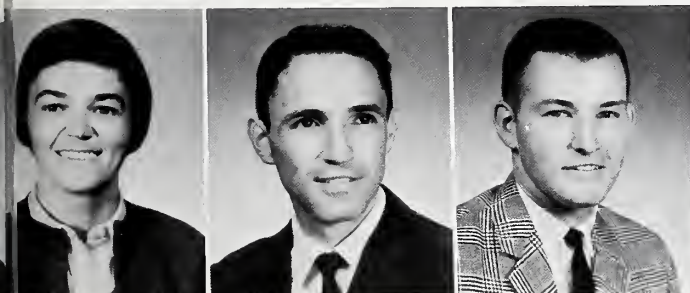

Girls as well as boys are given the opportunity to participate in both individual and team sports at GHS, and this year the department featured such interesting competition as powder puff football.

Though the main focus of the department is on keeping the individual physically fit, the department attempts, too, to school the students in the rules and procedures of spectator sports so that each student can follow GHS teams with knowledge that breeds enthusiasm.

Business Department Offers Specialized Training

Students enrolled in GHS Business Courses not only receive instruction in different levels of shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping, but also are given actual business experience in such courses as office practice. Guided by teachers all well-qualified in the business field, this department helps prepare students to meet the challenge of existing job opportunities. It is truly a department that educates for living.

Business students, like Jackie Overbee, find that shorthand takes practice and concentration.

Homemaking Courses Geared to Modern Living

Geared to today's living, the Home Economics department is advancing with the times. Improving in methods, the entire course is divided into three main groups, Home Economics I, II, and III, each taking one year to complete. Areas of study include family relations, child development, housing, clothing, foods, family health, Red Cross home nursing, and family economics. Keyed towards increasing the girls' independence, each of these sub-courses is individualized.

This year many significant advancements have been made by the Home Economics section. Among these have been the addition of another teacher and another Home Ec room. This improvement has made possible the creation of a separate Clothing Lab and Foods Lab.

Creativity. What is it, that elusive word that evokes a feeling of pride in those that know they have it and envy in those that think they don't but wish they did. Making everyone realize that he has creative responses is one of the tasks of the Arts Department at GHS, and it is a task they perform with verve and effect.

Students learn, for instance, that though they may never make the Met, they can make an important contribution to the Choral Department's spring musical; that though they never realized they could do so, they can create an interesting mobile or paper sculpture; that though they may not win an Oscar, they can create characters through drama that they never dreamed existed.

And so this department evokes a creative response in each student participating in its courses. But even more than this, the performances that it sponsors evoke a creative response in each member of its audience that says, "You are a part of all that you are viewing. Join us with your response."

The arts department of GHS—this, then, is creativity.

With new labs and new equipment to use this year, science students greet a schedule of hard work with enthusiasm. Also new this year is Advanced Biology, a course limited to specially qualified students. Faculty and students proudly acknowledge these advancements.

In preparation for homemaking or engineering, the Mathematics Department is vital to GHS's students. Realizing its necessity in future life, the department requires two credits for graduation.

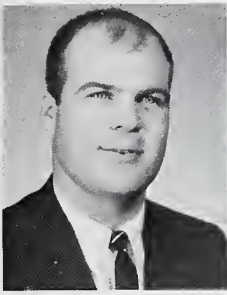

Math is important in many ways. Through it, students not only learn to think and reason logically, but are prepared for many fields of work.

This year, the Math Department offers students a program designed to meet the needs of those preparing for advanced training, as well as to meet the immediate needs of everyday living.

Research complete, Sonny Perkins, Jim Maher, Ed Wootters, Ray Rouse begin to make calculations based on their findings.

of Individual in America and World

To graduate from GHS requires a unit in US History, and to graduate with a college diploma requires three full credits in social studies. These requirements are readily met, however, for important events and fast communication make this a particularly interesting time to be studying the role of the individual and his society. Too, many GHS students have lived in different parts of the country and the world, thus bringing personal familiarity to the classroom discussions.

US and World history, a part of the junior and sophomore schedules, and sociology and economics, introduced during the senior year, are popular courses in which knowledge of the cultures of the past, vitalized by personal interpretations of the present, work together to make this department an outstanding one.

Language labs, which allow intensive work with individuals, are utilized by both Spanish and English classes at GHS.

Speaking, Writing, Cultures

Since one language is not universal, the world is faced with possible misunderstanding. With this in mind, the administration searches for ways to make this a truly productive department. Not limited to grammar and phonetics, its thorough foreign language study program includes the many aspects of a country's history and a people's culture.

Last summer six GHS girls had the privilege of spending six weeks in Europe and Asia where they studied and used the language in its native country. Carried out under the auspices of the American Institute of Foreign Study, the program is being continued this year.

One of the highlights of the foreign language program at GHS is the spring International Assembly honoring the foreign exchange student and other students who merit recognition for outstanding achievement in the study of foreign languages.

From Puritanism and witchcraft to writers and their styles, the English Department, headed by Miss Elizabeth Grant, places emphasis on learning grammar and mechanics through composition.

This skill is practiced, too, in its correlation with the literature program. As the sophomores study World literature, the juniors American, and the seniors English, they attempt to gain a complete picture of the background of the times in order to understand the literature they produced.

A staff of twelve English teachers instruct forty-seven classes: thirteen senior, thirteen junior, fifteen sophomore, five composition and speech, and one journalism.

English Department Coordinates Teaching

Mrs. Julia Brown, always prepared, is typical of the GHS English teacher who attempts to widen the range of her students' abilities.

of Language, Mechanics, Literature

Basic steps in the study of English include (left to right) reading and concentration, group and class discussion and participation, guided application of principles, and the final draft of a student composition.

Students May Take Specialized English Courses

Designed primarily to strengthen the abilities of students in the areas of both oral and written communication, the Composition and Speech course sponsored by the English department is almost mandatory for all college bound students. In the course, students are taught through actual writing experience and through the study of contemporary and classical writing models.

Serving as outlets for skills acquired in the 46 English classes, the HI NEWS, GOHISCA, and ETCETERA, student publications, enable students to further their writing abilities. The main extracurricular groups included the Literary Club and the Quill and Scroll.

In composition and speech courses such students as Janet Lancaster (above) attempt to gain poise before a group as well as to learn to speak articulately. The main task of the Senior English student, however, seems to be writing, writing, writing, which Bill Bailey, Julie Hudson, Jeff Austin (below) can probably attest to.

Dedication of purpose, cooperation of classmates, guidance by faculty—these are the elements that make each GHS student worthy of his class.

CLASSES

Super Senior Class of '67 Has Triumphant Year

Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Durham are active class advisors.

Busy discussing graduation, the Senior Class Council is made up of representatives from each homeroom and is the governing body of the Senior Class.

Looked up to by the other classes for leadership and guidance, the senior class takes the initiative in working for the school. From the magazine drive to Stunt Night, the senior class displays its experience and ability with the spirit that goes into making a winner.

Industrious seniors get the job done and are the leaders which are necessary in a good school. Seniors spark their drive and enthusiasm into others and set an example which cannot be duplicated. The Last Will and Testament shows that seniors still have a refreshing outlook and can put their talents to a humorous purpose.

The senior class leaves its school a better place. It provides the senior gift, a utilitarian presentation which reflects the desire of the senior class to help the school in a worthwhile manner.

As the school is known by its senior class, the outstanding senior class is of immeasurable credit to the school and itself.

Senior class officers are Eva Bennett, secretary; Chuck Henrichs, treasurer; Danny Davis, president; Randy Canady, vice-president.

Juniors Strike Hard in Competition and Scholarship

Jazzy Juniors Function Through Class Council

With their eyes to the future but their abilities concentrating on the here and now, the Junior Class works toward contributing to Goldsboro High School—both now and in the future. To guide them in their task are their officers and their representatives who meet weekly in council with their advisor, Mrs. Pat Pierce.

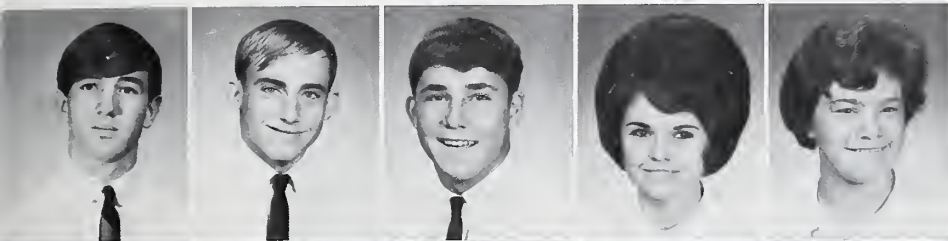

One person from each homeroom is elected each semester to the Junior Council. It is his responsibility to see that his fellow juniors are fully informed on such class activities as the magazine drive, stunt night, and, probably the highlight of the Junior year, the spring Junior-Senior. The position of representatives is truly an honored and a responsible one.

The Junior Council (below) is ably advised by Mrs. Pierce (above).

Making Their Debut into a World That Begins Adulthood, the Youngest Class Adds Vitality to GHS

Class Council Leads Sophomores

Goldsboro Junior High and Greenwood Junior High joined forces this fall to build the class of '69, bringing to GHS more than four hundred fifty sophomores.

Under the supervision of Miss Ina Mixon, the advisor, the youngest class quickly began to adjust to its new routine. The enthusiasm of the sophomores caused them to be immediately involved in the many social and scholastic activities of the school. Plans for the class song and the annual sophomore-sponsored bonfire were discussed.

Elected in the spring of our freshman year were the class officers, who—with the class council, the faculty advisor, and the cooperation of the members of the class—serve, lead, and direct all class functions.

Led by Susan Becker, sophomore class president, and advised by Miss Ina Mixon (above) the sophomore council makes plans for their three years' stay at GHS by choosing class colors, flower, and motto.

HONORARIES

NH

National Honor Society

Tapping Is Impressive

Twice each year GHS students witness a ceremony that is both thrilling and impressive in its dignity. This NHS tapping of new members, held each spring and fall, features the summation of the society's ideals in a candlelight induction of new members.

(Above) Marcy Jensen smiles as she reads the name of the person she is about to tap into NHS.

(Right) As he moves between the rows, Danny Davis searches for the unsuspecting person he will tap.

(Below) Bobby Wolfe announces to the student body the names of the newly inducted members of NHS.

Service, Scholarship, Leadership, Character Typify NHS Members

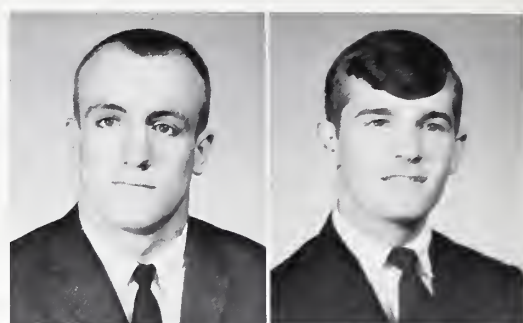

Perhaps no other student organization represents the ideals of Goldsboro High School so completely as does the National Honor Society. It is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarship, the development of character, and the promotion of leadership and service.

To be eligible for the coveted honor of NHS membership, a student must possess the highest personal standards of truth, honesty, and justice. He must be aware of the importance of education and strive to achieve scholastic excellence. As an enthusiastic supporter of the school and its policies, he should be willing to dedicate his talents and his time to its service.

New members are tapped into the society twice annually, in the spring and fall, during a formal assembly. Five outstanding junior girls are selected to represent the NHS and its principles—Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service. Following a recorded narration describing the society and its purposes, the robed members circulate throughout the audience in search of those honored few who have been selected to be tapped. Not more than five per cent of the junior class are eligible for membership.

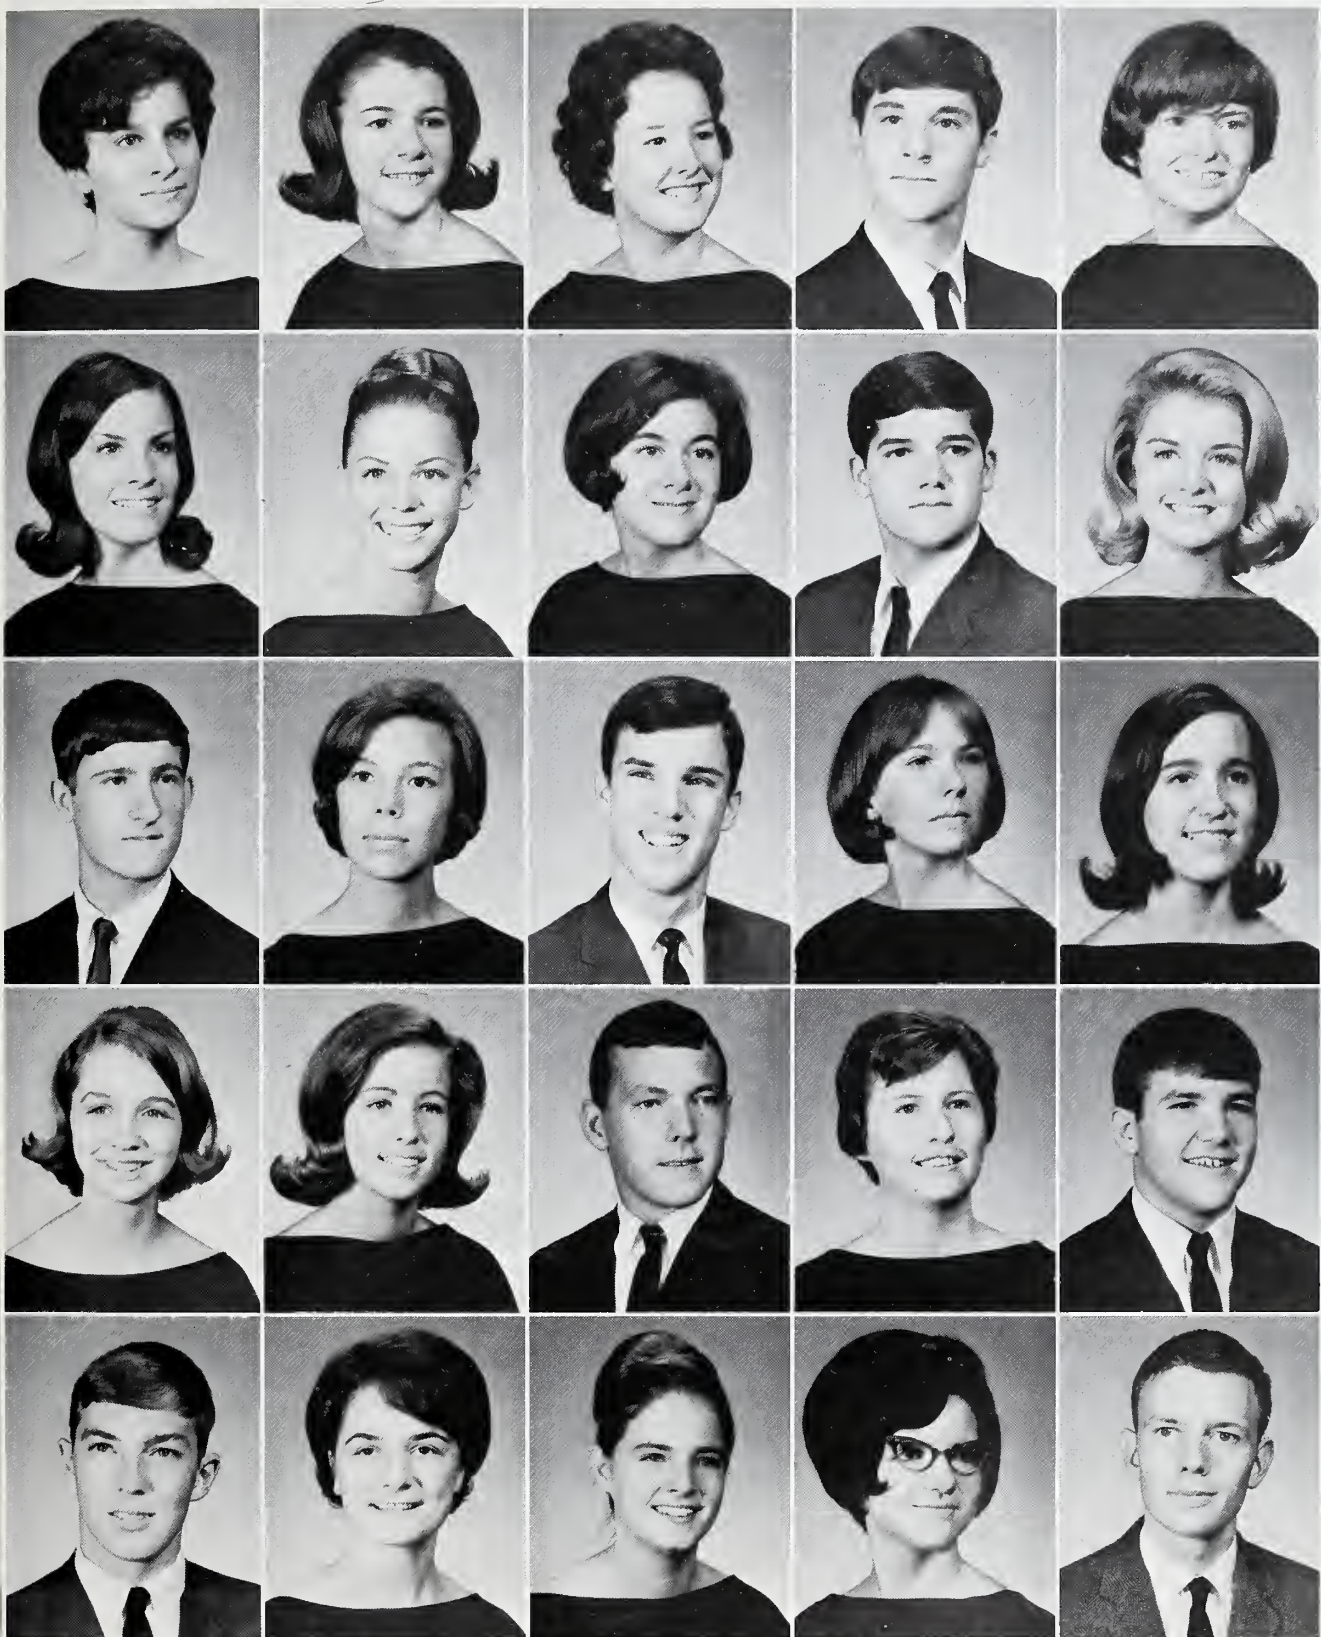

Each year the National Honor Society affords the students of GHS an opportunity to demonstrate their creative ability by sponsoring Stunt Night. The proceeds earned are awarded annually to deserving students in the form of NHS scholarships.

Mrs. Zipf, NHS advisor, confers with Bobby Wolfe, president, about Stunt Night.

Marshals Chosen

Miss Grant (left) gives final instructions to Johnny Greene and Marcia Pierce before the NCEA teachers meeting.

Chief Marshal, Marcy Jensen, and First Assistant, Gail Gaddy, (below) discuss plans for marshaling at Pygmalion with Miss Grant, advisor.

In recognition of those students who have maintained a superior scholastic record throughout high school, Marshals are chosen from the thirty highest-ranking members of their class. This year twenty-six students were selected for this distinction. To qualify to be a Marshal, a student is required to have a collective high school average of at least 91 and must have studied at Goldsboro High School for one year.

Ushering at Community Concerts, the principal duty of the marshals, is demonstrated here by Sherry Howard and Bobby Fuller.

Marshals begin their duties in the spring of their junior year when they usher at the graduation ceremonies for the departing class. As seniors they officiate at all school functions and are available upon request to usher for any other programs held in the Goldsboro High auditorium. This year Marshals served at the Eastern District of the North Carolina Education Association, assisted the North Carolina Symphony in their programs, and also ushered for the Goldmasquers productions.

Dedicated to the pursuit of journalistic excellence, the members of the International Honor Society for High School Journalists, Quill and Scroll, represents the finest journalistic talent of Goldsboro High School. To qualify for this honor, a student is required to have served on the staff of one of the school's publications, the Gobisca or the Hi-News, for at least one year. He must possess those qualities of honesty, integrity, and character which exemplify the standards of the society. Finally, he must rank in the upper third of his class. Students are tapped into Quill and Scroll in their junior and senior years.

A highlight of the club's activities occurs in the spring when Quill and Scroll sponsors a banquet in honor of those students who have served their school in the field of journalism. Each year a noted authority in this field is chosen to share his knowledge with the young journalists. Last year, Mr. Eugene Price, City Editor of the Goldsboro News Argus, was the honored guest.

Shelley Buckwalter directs Betsy Wharton, Marsha Hagman, Sonny Perkins, Bob Brofft, and Margie Smith as they prepare for the Quill and Scroll tapping.

(Below) Guests at the spring Quill and Scroll banquet were Mr. Hal Tanner, Mrs. Tanner, Principal C. W. Twiford, Mrs. Lilian Boland, Mrs. Twiford, Mrs. Lee Blackwell, and Colonel Tom Boland.

Appreciating beauty can be as rewarding as creating it, Gail Gaddy decides as she watches Frank Pierce at work.

AESTHETICS

Work began early on the Pygmalion scenery. Crew members, directed by stage manager Mike Thomas, were responsible for the three sets necessary for the fall production.

Mr. Holden works with Mike Richards, his assistant, on the fundamentals of producing effective sound for their productions.

Study Production, Create Magic

Creation of worlds and human beings through the magic of the stage—this is the purpose of the Goldmasquers. Qualifications for this GHS drama group is determined by a point system. Aspiring drama students accumulate points by aiding in the production of the various plays, either by acting or by planning and executing the numerous details so necessary in the development of a play. Costumes, makeup, lights, and sets are only a few of the departments to which the Goldmasquers devote enthusiasm and talent.

This year the Goldmasquers, under the direction of Mr. Michael Holden, presented Pygmalion by George Bernard Shaw.

The Goldmasquer officers, Lauri Crone, president; Mike Richards, vice-president; Debe Sherman, secretary; Frances Taylor, treasurer, discuss the success of Pygmalion.

GHS Goldmasquers Present Shaw's

(Right) "Your head will be cut off as a warning to other presumptuous flower girls," threatens Professor Higgins (Frank Pierce) as the composed Col. Pickering (Terry Pierceall) mediates the quarrel.

"I got my feelings same as anyone else," retorts Eliza (Karen Wolfe, center) to Professor Higgins (Frank Pierce).

Karen Bremer (far left) head of the make-up committee, supervises as Julie Hudson makes Lauri Crone become as old and gray as Mrs. Higgins.

(Center) Alfred Doolittle (Bobby Core) expresses his attitude by his speech "... and I ask you, Governors, what was my feelings and my duty as a father?"

Lauri Crone (below) plays the aristocratic Mrs. Higgins with her "Really, Henry, must you?"

GHS Band Gives Civic Concerts

Pep rallies, football games, and assemblies come alive with the booming spirit of the Goldsboro High School Marching Band. Under the capable direction of John Thompson, the band plays an essential part in many GHS activities, including the Christmas Parade, the Homecoming Parade, and Homecoming half-time.

Four majorettes complement the band. Not only do these girls devote daily practice to their batons, but they are also required to contribute musically to the band by playing an instrument.

Beautiful concerts indicate the countless hours of practice that the Goldsboro Concert Band musicians devote to their instruments. This department of the school band presents several programs annually, including a fall concert at Cherry Hospital, the spring cultural show Sunday-in-the-Park, and Graduation exercises.

This year a "pep band" was initiated to help basketball fans cheer our team to victory.

The students of GHS are indebted to the band for its spirit, entertainment, and cultural enrichment.

Drum major Jimmy Edwards leads the band in a stirring round of "Victory".

Band Furnishes Varied Entertainment

GHS Band in Demand for Parade Appearances

Being a member of GHS' marching band (left) is not all glory: Long hours are spent after school practicing music and formations, and countless miles are marched in parades (above). Caught in a moment of solitude, Lonnie Smith (below) pauses after a particularly hard rehearsal.

Ten years of effort by Mr. George Trautwein, director of Goldsboro High's choral groups, resulted this year in the purchase of a new Steinway Grand piano.

Choral Group Is Largest Ever

Although Mixed Chorus is an elective, it may be considered a necessary part of the curriculum at GHS for it brings out the creativity in students. Through singing, students learn self-confidence.

This year the Choral Department is divided into three sections, Mixed Chorus, Touring Choir and the Madrigal Choir. The latter two, specialized groups, are screened for musicians since they perform more difficult works.

Casper, Charles Best, shows Amahl the marvels of his wondrous box as the page and the other two kings look on.

"Goodnight, my good kings, goodnight!" sing the shepherds and shepherdesses as they depart.

Washington

Hansel and Gretel nibble at the confections on the witch's house little dreaming of the terror to come.

Peter confides to his wife that he fears for the safety of the children.

Delightful is the word for Hansel and Gretel, the fine arts' Midwinter Production. Featuring guest artist Susanne Truss of the Washington Choral Society, the musical was a joint effort of Mr. Trautwein and Mr. Michael Holden, drama director.

The cast of the musical included: Peter, David Dan-nehl; Gertrude, Susan Campbell; Hansel, Jane Porter; Gretel, Eva Bennett; the Witch, Susanne Truss; the sleep fairy, Georgia Lee Harrington; the dawn fairy, Sally Spring; Sandman, Bobby Wolfe; the Children, girls from the Mixed Chorus.

Released from their magic spell, the cookies sing and dance with a happy Hansel and Gretel.

Dynamic Quakes Have a Winning

With a never ceasing will to win, Goldsboro High School's varsity football team played many unforgettable games. An impressive possession of speed and agility sent the Quakes undaunted against their foes. Team after team fell victim to their powerful blows.

When the season ended, Seniors Richard Thornton and Ron Tingen were chosen for the Eastern 4-A conference team and for the NC East-West game and Tingen was invited to play in the annual Shrine Bowl. Honors at the end of the season went to Ron Cooper as "Most Improved" player, Bobby Wolfe and Doug Peeler for "Sportsmanship" and Raymond Walters as "Most Valuable Player."

Nothing, not even the whole Enloe team can stop Randy Edens, the "Sensational Soph."

Hard work and determination accounted for a successful record of 7-3. Who can ever forget the night Goldsboro led top-rated Durham 7-6 until the final minutes of the game? The disappointment at the loss could not overcome the pride that GHS fans felt for their Earthquake team.

At the end of the season the football scoreboard read:

Goldsboro		Opponent
17	Southern Wayne	0
20	New Bern	6
27	Rocky Mount	6
7	Durham	13
19	Wilmington	14
7	Enloe	0
19	Wilson	6
6	Fayetteville	20
13	Jacksonville	7
0	Broughton	36

Season

"Heads or tails?" query the GHS co-captains Dennis Musser (11), Wilbur Sasser (75).

How to win a game: Start with a well-planned formation; add 151 pounds of Buzz Ledford; and finish with a ready-made touchdown.

Teamwork

Our dedicated coaches Bob Waller, David Odom, Gerald Whisenhunt discuss pre-game strategy.

Much of the credit for a successful year goes to managers Charles Watson, Gene Gurley, Duffy Smith.

Shelby Pine (4) heads for a first down as he is threatened by a Jacksonville opponent.

Is the Key to Success

Halftime in the fieldhouse is the scene of serious planning and consultation as Coach Whisenhunt says, "Look, boys, this is what we have to do to win." Their success shows that the Quakes learned their lesson well.

With able assistance from the coaching staff, head coach Gerald Whisenhunt has been a key factor in the Quakes' outstanding football season. With undying effort, he has taught the team the value of self-discipline and responsibility.

These qualities have also been found in this year's Jayvee team. Although they didn't win the majority of their games, they have gained much valuable experience for the tough varsity competition ahead of them. Coach Whitfield predicts a good varsity season for them next year.

Th real pride of our team was its fine sportsmanship. Praise from the opponents resulted at the end of each game. GHS will long remember the spirit, enthusiasm, and drive of the '66-'67 Earthquakes.

GHS Cagers

Allen Barwick and his Kinston opponent have the same idea—capture the rebound.

A loose ball results in a mad scramble in the game with Kinston.

In the Eastern 4-A division, GHS Varsity cagers ended their season tied for fifth place.

Plagued by injuries, the Quakes ended the season with a 9-11 overall record and a 6-10 conference record.

The Quakes managed a 28.5-26.0 rebound record, but were outscored 61.3-54.9. Though foul shooting rated 65.9%, floor accuracy was only 36.4.

Bruce Crocker (11.9) and Jack Hooks (11.7) were individual scoring leaders, and Crocker led in rebounds (10.3).

At the annual awards assembly this year Jack Lee, sports writer for the Goldsboro News Argus, presented the award for the Most Valuable player. This award went to Bruce Crocker who also received a trophy for Best Rebounder. Charles Wheeler, a junior, received the award for the Best Player.

Jayvees Display Remarkable Ability

Under the able guidance of Coach David Odom, this year's Jayvee basketball team has wound up its season with a 14-6 record. They defeated every school at least once during the two times each was played. Thomas Dawson and Don Edmonson were the two top scorers. Don also holds the top rebounder position.

Track Team Maintains Fast Pace

Last year's newly organized cross-country team has greatly expanded the GHS track program. Sparked by Coach Lee Brinson, the emphasis is on long distance and endurance running. Concentration by the track team is centered on running skills, on high and broad jumps, discus throwing, and shot put areas.

Once again Goldsboro High has a first rate wrestling team. This year, for the second consecutive time, they took the Eastern Regional Championship by topping fourteen other competing schools.

In addition to the individual championships won by Jim Brane and Dickie Askins, Askins received the most-valuable-wrestler trophy in the Eastern tourney.

Third Place Win

Homer Pike and Jackie Edmundson, the '67 co-captains, are a great asset to the team.

Jim Brane demonstrates good throwing form.

Despite an end-of-the-season rally that put them in third place, the '66 Quake baseball team missed the state play-off for the 4-A championship.

The team ended the year with a six game winning streak that gave them a 14-6 record for the season.

Receiving outstanding awards for the '66 season were Jackie Edmundson, most valuable; Don Crawford, most team spirit; Danny Howell, best batting average; Lee Kearney, most improved.

Coach George Whitfield, assisted by Coach David Odom, train the team for their 4-A schedule, which means playing each school in the conference twice each year.

Coach Whitfield yells encouragement to the team.

Returning Netmen Seek State Title

Following a precedent set for GHS tennis, the '66 team, coached by Mr. Charles Lee finished the year with a 12-3 record.

Too, Marion Edwards won the single title in the Wilmington Invitational, while Tommy Benton and Mark Helms teamed to win the doubles crown in both the J. C. City championship and the Eastern Carolina Tennis Association matches.

Individual scores in the regular season were: Tommy Benton 11-0, Marion Edwards 8-2; Chuck Henrichs 1-0; Richard Thornton 5-0.

Tommy Benton is determined to make this his best serve yet ...

... and on the receiving end, Marion Edwards is also determined—to make an even better return!

GHS Golf Team Has Four Returning Veterans

Goldsboro's golf team landed in fifth spot in the conference in their 1966 season. Al Goodrich received the Archie Hamil award given to the team's outstanding golfer.

To each match, GHS sends the six top qualifiers for the week to meet top golfers from Wilson, Durham, Raleigh, Rocky Mount, Wilmington, Fayetteville. Conference standings are determined by total team strokes during the seven-match season.

Being very anxious to help, Coach Waller wants to make sure that Willis Denmark gets the ball in. (Left) Eddie Shaw chips up to the green for a birdie on the sixth hole.

Girls' Intramural Program Inaugurated

Sports Competitions Provide Coeds Opportunity to Compete

This year, for the first time since girls' physical education became a part of the curriculum at GHS, an extensive intramural program was established. Under the direction of Miss Anne Webb, various athletic teams were organized on a voluntary basis for all interested girls. Four football teams struggled to attain the championship, and six volleyball teams also fought a close battle for first place. In addition, a number of basketball and baseball games and several tennis matches were arranged. These teams were formed in conjunction with the class program in physical education, but all competition was held after school rather than during the regular classes.

On the whole the program has proved very encouraging. In fact, Miss Webb believes that before the year is over nearly two hundred girls will have participated in the intramural program.

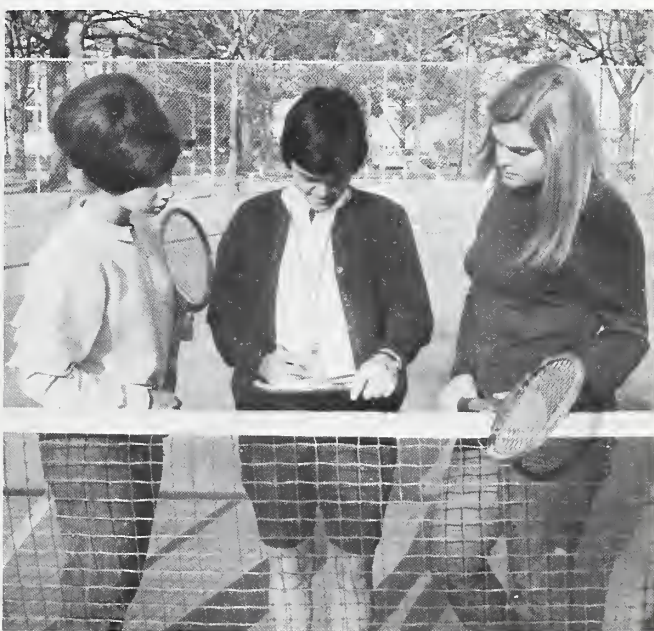

It looks like Betsy Wharton will be the only one who will be successful in her attempt to return the ball.

Having gained possession of the ball, Ann Ritter tries for a touchdown as she is pursued by Debby Robson and Marsha English.

Miss Webb goes over the tennis statistics with Sally Spring and Lauri Crone.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: Linda Simpson, Marion Porter, Eva Bennett, Debby Mixon, Gail Gaddy, (asst. head) Stuart Briley, (mascot) Leslie Hood, (head) Charlene Holmes, Ginny Vinson, Lynda Bell, Janet Lancaster.

The cheerleaders start the game off right as they follow-up the team and then break into a lively round of "Victory" as the crowd begins to roar.

Cute and peppy, Janet Lancaster is caught in a striking pose.

Spirit Makes the Team Go 'Round

GHS is known throughout the state for its outstanding school spirit. The promoters of this fine spirit are the 1966-67 Varsity cheerleaders. Through pep rallies, songs, skits, and a great admiration for the team, they have shown a never-ending devotion to all sports.

Their spirit extends beyond the boundaries of actual gametime, however, for they sponsor spirit contests, decorate the goal posts, lead pep rallies, and help train prospective cheerleaders for tryouts.

This year the GHS cheerleaders were invited to lead cheers at the East-West basketball tournament in Greensboro, a fitting compliment to an outstanding group of girls.

"Push 'em back" yell Jayvee cheerleaders Cathy Holler, Margaret Ann Jernigan, Billie Jean Ward.

Jayvee cheerleaders: Betty Jo Bell (head) Beau Ward (asst. head) Janis Turnage, Pam LeRoy, Jacque Waters, Karen Maree, Lynn Weathers, Maxine Pike, Cathy Holler, Billie Jean Ward, Margaret Ann Jernigan.

Dennis Musser, co-captain, "breaks through" as he is cheered on by Gail Gaddy, Leslie Hood, Charlene Holmes.

GHS's bonfire is a symbol of the kind of activities sponsored by the school. Bright and shining, it is a product of effort and cooperation.

ACTIVITIES

Summer Activities Keep GHS Students

Representing GHS at the North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute in Chapel Hill are Charles Gaylor, Maynard Ernest, Karen Overholt, Shelley Buckwalter, Betty Jo Harrell, Sylvia Barwick, Pat Smith, Bobbie Medlin.

Part of Coach David Odom's job as a driver's education teacher in the summer program is to practice keeping out of the way of student drivers.

On the Go

Summer, '66, saw many GHS students combining relaxation and pleasure with more serious activities involving learning.

Journalism students traveled to UNC at Chapel Hill to attend three days of conferences on building better school yearbooks and newspapers, while student government officers attended the annual Mars Hill convention designed to help solve school problems. GHS was represented, too, at the Governor's school at Winston Salem where each summer NC students who excel in their specific field of interest gather for intensive training and enrichment.

In the foreign study program GHS students traveled and studied in France, Spain, and India; and on the home front, sophomores, juniors and seniors gathered for the usual driver's training classes.

Attending Governor's School were GHS students Marcella Montague, Karen Wolfe, Charlene Holmes, Mike Boing, Don Crawford. They studied French, dramatics, art, math and voice, respectively.

Touring Europe were Marion Porter, Amy Vick, Ginny Vinson, Senora Salas-Calero, Jane Porter, Bonnie Boland, while Marcy Jensen studied in India under the American Field Service program.

Enthusiasm, spirit, and determination lead the Seniors to their overwhelming victory.

Super Seniors, Jazzy Juniors and Sensational Sophomores united to make the 1966 magazine drive the greatest success in the history of GHS.

The school's goal was set at $15,500, but the determination and effort of the students resulted in a grand total of $18,119.58. As expected, the seniors led the school in its victory by selling $7,756.33 worth of magazines. The juniors sold $5,578.31, and close behind followed the sophomores with $4,784.94. An extraordinary homeroom total of $1,782.61 and a homeroom average of $55.69 per person broke all previous records.

According to tradition, challenges were made and paid. Although cokes and nabs were most popular, there were, as always, some unusual challenges, such as French Fries and fizzies and lollipops.

"Have You Got That Spirit"

Homecoming arrived at GHS on the heels of a whirlwind of posters, flowers, floats, bulletin boards, and spirit. Cold nights were spent in garages hammering, making flowers, and socializing. The night before November 4, the Big Day, was a hullabaloo, with floats to finish and the Bonfire to attend. Sophomores put forth a great effort in trying to make it the biggest bonfire ever.

The Big Day dawned with the sun shining brightly on half-finished floats and people rushing in all directions to finish them. As the Day progressed, spirits soared, each person feeling sure that his float and his team was going to win. Then there was the parade. Thirty-two floats were entered in the contest and proudly paraded before the city of Goldsboro. Only five however, were asked to remain at the school for presentation at the game: 216's Pumpkin, 219's Rainbow, 201's Windmill, 211's Dragon, and 227's Old Car.

Then the game was on. Thrilling half-time entertainment featured the band in Connecticut Half-Time and the formation of "VC" honoring Varsity Club members; and as the Varsity Club Sweetheart was crowned, a heart was formed around her. Tension mounted as the winning bulletin boards were announced: first place, Mrs. Wuestman's room 1; second, Mrs. Askew's room 203; third, Mrs. Durham's room 211. The winning floats paraded around the field.

Despite the losing score, everyone turned up at the dance afterward to show continued support for GHS.

Sallie Irby and Ray Rouse represent GHS in the parade and at the game.

Spirited fans encourage the Quakes during an exciting play of the game.

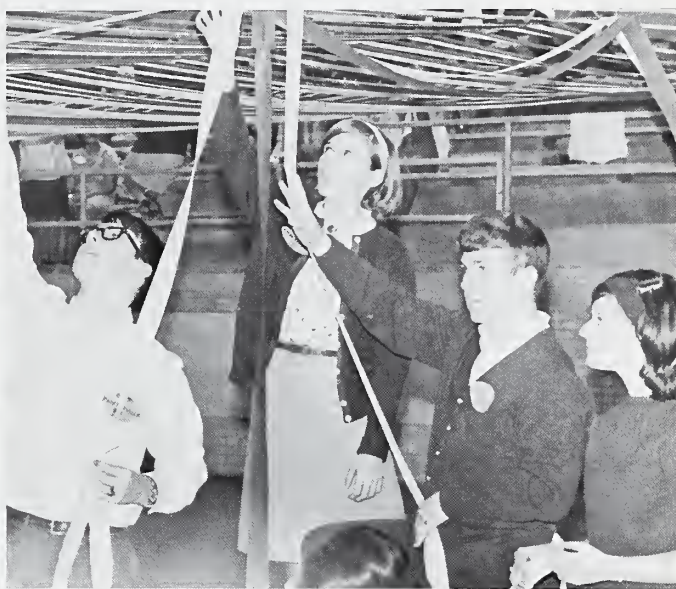

Always colorful and exciting is the annual homecoming parade, held every year on the afternoon before the game. An interesting attraction of the Homecoming parade is the appearance of Principal C. W. Twiford chauffeured by Superintendent of City Schools, Mr. Jerry Paschal.

over the loss of their source of candy.

Each year the National Honor Society sponsors Stunt Night, a tradition at Goldsboro High School. At this annual mid-year event each class presents a skit which is student written, produced and directed.

Stunt night 1966 was won by the Senior Class, with the Juniors a close second.

Senior originality captured the spotlight with their amusing monster film. Japanese verse and songs highlighted the operatic production of the Juniors. Recollections of the days of Candy Land was featured by the Sophomores. All these formed the bond to produce another memorable Stunt Night.

Profits from Stunt Night are used for scholarships which enable many students to alleviate the high cost of their college education.

Highlight of the year's activities, the Junior-Senior Dance is presented to the graduating class as a gift from the Juniors. The Class of '67 strove to honor last year's senior class according to the finest traditions of GHS. Talent and approximately 80 hours of hard work transformed the interior of the gym into a gay, festive Parisian scene. To further authenticate the French atmosphere, several junior girls danced the "can-can." A hilarious note was added to the evening's entertainment when two senior boys performed as "go go" dancers in paper cages.

Varied Activities Create Interest

Homecoming and Stunt Night, Junior-Senior and the Magazine Drive—these are exciting events at GHS. But there are other activities that come almost daily that keep students lively and interested in the events around them. Each year trips are sponsored that supplement school learning and act as a stimulus to interest. These, along with special assemblies, conventions, and elections, give the students a chance to grow through active participation in projects.

Viewing with pride the first issue of GHS' new literary magazine Etcetera are Frank Pierce, Miss Lucy Hicks, advisor, Charlene Holmes, Lauri Crone. Frank and Lauri were poetry winners and Charlene, art first place.

Outstanding event of each year is the biology trip through Florida. (Above) David Adams pauses at Silver Springs to make a friend.

Events Add Zest to GHS Life

American Field Service Student
Gains Rapid Popularity

Really superlative in the eyes of GHS is Christine Quentin, foreign exchange student from Angers, France, whose future plans include being an interpreter or an airline hostess.

Christine's American home is with Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Simmons, Jr., and GHS's Gail, a senior. Her list of favorite things is long, and includes American one-level houses with yards, co-educational schools, the magazine drive, pep rallies, football games, teachers, hamburgers, tuna salad, sweat shirts, and Spanish.

She so warmly responds to everything that is GHS and Goldsboro, that it is easy to see why students classify her as "superlative."

Honored by GHS Classmates

Betty Jo Harrell and Danny Davis are Most Likely To Succeed.
Eva Bennett and Ray Rouse are Most Popular.

Every fall the senior class selects by popular ballot its superlatives, students who are most representative of every phase of high school life. This has become a meaningful tradition to the students of G.H.S., as it has been a part of the GOHISCA since its first publication. In the spring these students are honored when they are presented to the student body in a special assembly.

Bobbie Simmons and Mike Livengood are Wittiest.

Gail Gaddy and Ed Wooters are Best All Round.

Superlatives Reflect

There is an aura of excitement at GHS after the fall superlatives' balloting by the seniors. Though these honors are reserved for senior students, every member of every class has his favorites and eagerly waits for the results to be read over the intercom.

Selected for their contributions to the school, the titles they bear are not meaningless honors, but are badges of respect and honor. Be it for wit, talent, intellect, or a friendly smile, they are chosen to represent those characteristics worthy and desirable.

Varsity Club Honors Leslie Hood

Yearly GHS' Varsity Club members elect a senior girl who best represents the ideals of the club and who exhibits outstanding school spirit. Leslie Hood, this year's choice admirably fulfills these qualifications. As the head cheerleader, the outstanding enthusiasm which she has displayed demonstrates the wisdom of their choice.

Peter Paul and Mary

Trio Selects Miss Gohisca

One of the most exciting tasks of the GOHISCA editors is the selection of judges for the Miss Gohisca contest. This year they were particularly fortunate when Peter Paul and Mary agreed to judge the GHS beauties.

Results of the contest were kept secret until the GOHISCA's formal presentation at a special assembly. Then the folk singers themselves announced the results of the contest via a tape recording made in Raleigh with the GOHISCA editors.

In the contest, an annual event, two girls from each grade level are chosen by their classmates to run for the title Miss Gohisca. Since the judging is from photographs submitted, basis for the selection is facial beauty.

Nancy Andrews Chosen Miss Gohisca

Selected as an outstanding beauty at GHS, Nancy Andrews is the third junior girl to win the Miss Gohisca title.

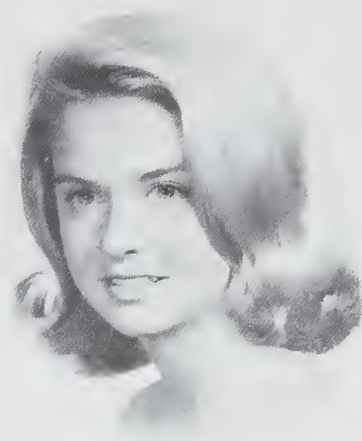

Besides serving as a cheerleader, Nancy has participated in stunt night and served as a Student Association Representative.

Always smiling and always vivacious, her bubbling personality is one of Nancy's greatest charms.

CLUBS

Students Explore New and Old Ideas in Math Club

Lynda Bell studies the new concepts of math.

Bob Brofft and David Hauser examine a theory.

Janet Lancaster applies the basics of regular "old" math.

For those interested in the various concepts of mathematics, the Math Club offers students an opportunity to develop their knowledge in this important field. This year, under the guidance of Mrs. Pamela Lawrence, the members of the Math Club have discussed such various topics as the Metric system, number bases and computers. To qualify for membership, a student must possess a minimum average of 85.

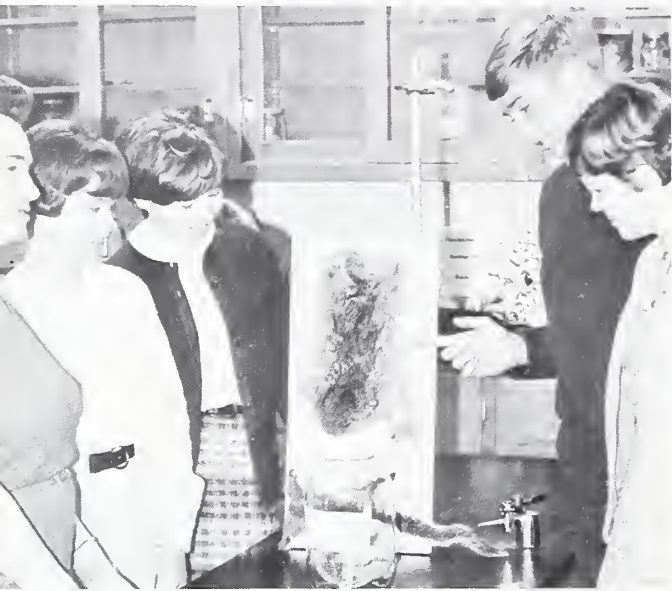

Math Club officers Jim Maher, secretary; Glenwood Sykes, president; Mike Boing, vice-president; Charles Gaylor, treasurer, listen intently to Mrs. Lawrence, advisor, as she explains the abacus.

Science Club Members Explore the Universe

For those who are interested in the wide field of science, the Science Club provides answers to questions and proof of new ideas through experiments, lectures, and films. The club sponsors educational trips and invites various guest speakers whose proficiency in some phase of the scientific field provides broadening knowledge to the members of the Science Club.

Examining chemicals for their next experiment are Science Club officers, Sonny Perkins, president; David Hauser, vice president; Bob Brofft, secretary.

Mr. Rogers, advisor of the Science Club, explains a problem in electricity to the members.

FTA Members Experience Problems of Teaching

Caught in the act through a science lab window panel is Mary Ann Kleinfelter as she substitutes for an absent teacher. This is one of the helpful tasks that club members perform as a service to GHS.

It is the purpose of the Future Teachers of America to develop the student's interest in teaching. Each member aids a teacher in her various daily duties. Occasionally during the year, the members are allowed to substitute for an absent teacher. The FTA served as ushers at the NCEA meeting and at the open house of the City Schools Administration Building.

Discussing plans for the FTA convention with their advisor, Mrs. Julia Brown are Pat Smith, secretary; Marsha Hagman, president; Bonita May, vice president; Betty Jo Harrel, treasurer.

Community Benefits from FHA Projects

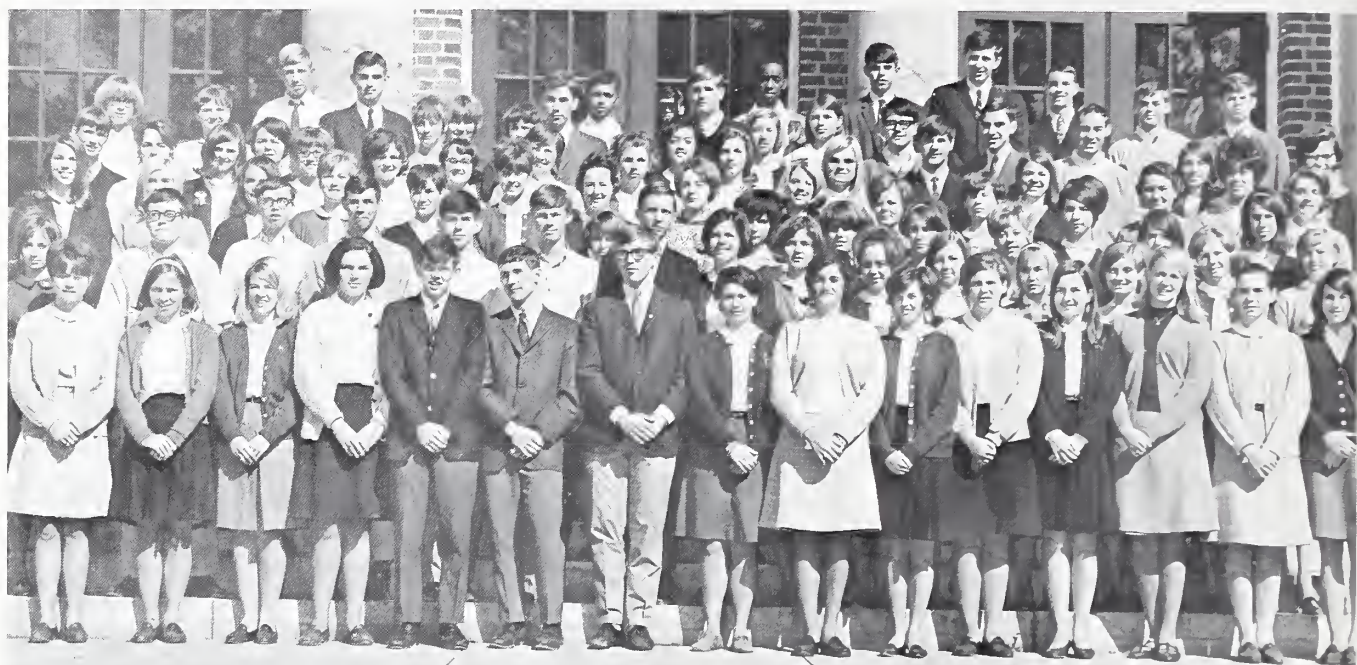

These FHA members learn to prepare a meal and cope with the problems of homemaking. They are Linda Mitchell, Jean Barwick, Shirley, Toler, Libby Everhart Linda Mitchell.

An active club is one that plays an important role in the life at GHS. Such a club is the Future Homemakers of America which meets regularly and engages in various worthwhile projects. In the past years the members have participated in the dressing of dolls for the Salvation Army.

Preparing information for local service projects are Kay Bradshaw, vice president; Betty Fullerton, president; Mrs. Agnes Jensen, advisor; Mrs. Betty Jackson, advisor; Ann Malpas, secretary; Becky Damewood, treasurer.

Discussing plans for the initial publication of Etcetera are Miss Lucy Hicks, advisor; Nancy Stone, vice-president; Bland Hood, president; and Debby Robson, secretary-treasurer.

Exploring and understanding literature, from the classics to contemporary best sellers, greatly increase the reading pleasure of the interested student. It is the purpose of the Literary Club to develop in its members the comprehension and enjoyment of books.

This year, under the guidance of its advisor, Miss Lucy Hicks, the Literary Club introduced the literary magazine, Etcetera, as a new school publication. Composed entirely of various original works—poems, short stories, essays, and sketches—submitted by students, this magazine affords pupils the opportunity to express themselves in creative writing.

Students Learn Through Experience in Spanish Club

Organized for cultural enrichment and broader language understanding, the Spanish Club is restricted to those students who have taken, or are taking, Spanish I or II. Through films and the experience of their advisor Dr. Salas, a native of Cuba, the Spanish students learn about Spain and Latin America.

A very active club, this spring the Spanish Club held a Miss Pan American contest. The girl maintaining the highest average in Spanish was crowned Miss Pan America.

Discussing Espanol with their advisor, Dr. Maria Salas-Carleo are Marsha Hagman, president; Georgia Harrington, secretary; Debbie Vinson, treasurer; Rita Hatch, vice president.

Those students who have exhibited an interesting and understanding of French, Le Cercle Français extends the opportunity to acquire more detailed knowledge of the language and country beyond that encountered in ordinary classroom discussion.

Membership is restricted to students who have an average of at least 90 in French I, II, or III.

The meetings which are conducted entirely in French, are always original. They range from game time to folk singing to discussions on the language and land.

This year the French club is lucky to have a very able helper, Christine Quentin, GHS' foreign exchange student. Christine has proved an invaluable aid in planning and carrying out the programs.

One of the projects has been to establish a scholarship fund to send an outstanding French student to France.

Pep Club Members Initiate Enthusiasm

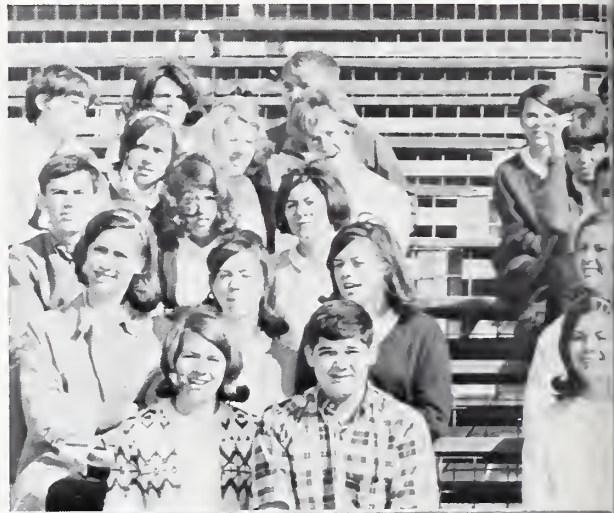

To initiate spirit and enthusiasm among the students of G.H.S. is the main purpose of the Pep Club, our major student body club. Evidence of its activity are the numerous posters and banners supporting the Earthquakes that decorate in the halls prior to athletic events. The members of the Pep Club are also responsible for the tolling of the Victory Bell after a victorious game. This year they sold "You can't stop the Earthquakes" badges to further increase the spirit of the student body. The contagious enthusiasm of this active club has been a major factor in the excellent student attendance at pep rallies and games.

Serving as this year's Pep Club officers are Laurie McKinney, president; Glynda Warren, secretary; and Charlene Holmes, vice-president, who is ringing the victory bell.

Club Ideals Expressed in Varsity Club Prayer

When the score stands against me and there seems little chance to win, when there is a whole half to play and I am hot and tired and sick at heart, then I pray, Divine Comrade, for strength to play the game. It is easy enough to play when I am winning, when I feel fresh and there are not odds against me; but when things are going wrong and I am tempted to cheat, to gamble, or to quit, then I need Thy help. I want to take life as a game and play it fair and hard. To do this, I need some strong leader, so I pray that Thou will always be with me.

When I am cowardly or tired or baffled, give the sense that Thou art by my side, telling me how to play my way and giving me the courage to keep on. Be with me in the contests of today and all through life's courses. Amen.

Under the extraordinary guidance of Coach Gerald Whisenhunt, the Varsity Club, composed of boys who have lettered in a major sport, promotes better sportsmanship among the athletes. Maintaining the highest standards of varsity athletes and demonstrating sportsmanlike conduct from its members, it excludes any activity considered morally, mentally, or physically detrimental to their well-being.

Activities of the club include sponsoring concession stands at basketball games and a formal dance in the spring. One of the main events of the year is the crowning of the Varsity Club Sweetheart at the Homecoming game.

GHS Lettermen Promote Sportsmanship

Responsible for varied projects throughout the school year, GHS Varsity Club officers are an active group. Seen below discussing their annual hayride with their advisor, Coach Gerald Whisenhunt, are Homer Pike, pres.; Tommy Howell, sgt.-at-arms; Dennis Musser, cor. sec.; Gene Gurley, vice-pres.; Wilbur Sasser, rec. sec.; Chuck Henrichs, treas. ORGANIZATIONS

Officers Lead Student Association Through Its Greatest Year

Ed Wooters, Student Association president, is responsible for one of the most outstanding years in the history of the association.

Important to GHS is the Student Association. Though not actually a governing body, it acts as a forum for airing student problems and questions, and promoting good relations between students and faculty. It boosts student participation in school affairs. Members of the SA council are homeroom representatives elected bi-annually, committee chairmen, class vice-presidents, and presiding officers elected by the entire student body. At meetings every Tuesday morning each representative brings from his homeroom questions and ideas for discussion. Then these are returned for discussion in the homeroom before any resolution is adopted. With this policy a solid student body unit is formed.

Tuesday morning is the scene of serious planning and consideration for it is here that new ideas are introduced to GHS.

Officers of the SA Ray Rouse, Vice-President; Betty Jo Harrell, Parliamentarian; Marcy Jensen, Corresponding Secretary; Linda Simpson, Treasurer; Mrs. Balkcum, Advisor; Jane Porter, Recording Secretary and Ed Wooters, President attend an Advisory Board meeting where they discuss plans for next SA meeting.

S. A. Committees Sponsor Special Projects

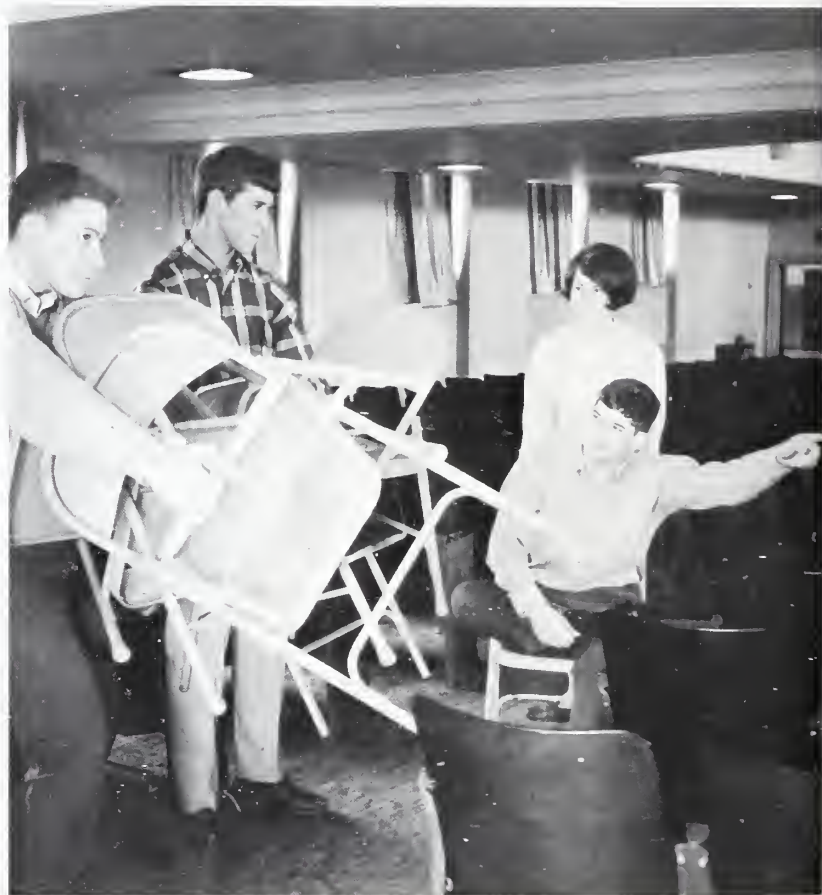

(Above) Devotional committee members Chuck Henrichs and Betty Fullerton discuss the Thanksgiving assembly scriptures as chairman Frankie Lee and Linda Futerelle look on. This committee is responsible for the ideals presented at each assembly and at weekly SA meeting.

(Above right) Gail Gaddy, chairman of the American Field Service committee, presents foreign exchange student Christine Quentin a GOHISCA. New this year, this committee acts as a liaison between foreign exchange students and the SA. It is the promotion of good will between the US and foreign nations that is its long-range objective.

and Activities

(Right) Audio-Visual committee members David Ellison and Kelly Andrews help Chairman Jere Wessell move an opaque projector as Phil Wessell looks on. Constantly in demand by the faculty, this is one of the most active of the SA committees.

(Center Right) Usually a treat reserved for visiting teams, Reception Chairman Sally Jo Tart presents an apple to Wilbur Sasser and Ken Nunn to let the home team know that they're the most important.

(Below) Scholarship Chairman Margie Smith distributed G-pins to those GHS students who make a 91 average for a grading period. They are very careful to see that the sophomores get bronze, the juniors silver, and the seniors gold, all symbolic colors of their classes.

SA Committees Serve Student Body

(Below, left) Glynda Warren, chairman for the Publicity committee, places an SA poster that informs every student about newest ideas of the council. Theirs is an important responsibility in any campaign of project.

(Below) School spirit is a must for a successful year. Head cheerleaders Leslie Hood and Gail Gaddy are responsible to the SA for maintaining the spirit at GHS. This they do by sponsoring pep rallies and spirit weeks.

(Top) Members of the Social Committee, under the direction of Sallie Irby, (right foreground) plan all of the dances and social events held each year at GHS. This year Sallie also served as Homecoming Committee chairman.

(Above) Chairman Bonita May (standing) works with members of her committee on plans for announcing the Goldmasquers Pygmalion. New to GHS this year, this Inter-School Relations Committee strives to promote better relations between GHS students and between GHS and other schools.

(Right) Marsha Hagman, chairman of the Calendar Committee, and Shirley Dudley place the November calendar in the office. This committee approves and schedules all organizational meetings in an attempt to avoid a conflict of meetings.

Student Groups

(Above) Beverly Williams, Cafeteria chairman, and Gene Gurley, Building chairman, make plans for decorations for the school for the holidays. Beverly's committee keeps the lunchroom pleasant with attractive decorations, while Gene's committee keeps the building and lockers in good order.

(Right) Bobby Fuller, Flag committee chairman, prepares to raise the flag, his customary procedure when the weather permits. It is his responsibility, too, to raise the GHS victory flag following every successful sports competition.

Perform Tasks Involving Service to GHS.

(Left) Tom Spring presides over a discussion of proposed election procedure improvements designed to emphasize elements important to the democratic process. This committee is responsible for all general elections in the spring.

(Below) Stressing honesty, this year's Honor committee headed by Leslie Hood has been exceptionally active in attempting to establish an honor code at GHS. Introduced to the student body during the fall honor week, the code has been actively discussed.

Informed of Important GHS Events

This year in its fortieth year of publication, the Hi News, student newspaper published by the journalism class, continues to produce the quality newspaper which last year won an A rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press. The ten issues published each year feature scholastics, sports, and general events which occur at Goldsboro High School. Co-editors Marcia Pierce and Sylvia Barwick lead an active and energetic staff who strive to make each issue a better newspaper.

Under the direction of advisor Eugene Roberts, the students learn the principles of journalism while serving the school. In the spring many staff members attend a journalism convention sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press in New York. Each summer four students attend the journalism workshop at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

for All-School Yearbook

Class editors (seated) Louann Harrell, Betsy Wharton, Chuck Hendricks work on their sections as (standing) Patti Vinson, Brownie Williams, Janice Hallman Mary Jane Carson, Linda Simpson, Althea Carson, Cathy Holler watch and learn.

When the '67 GOHISCA started organizing in the spring of '66, they defined for themselves a goal—to produce a book that clearly and factually represents a year of life at GHS.

With this in mind, the staff decided too, to eliminate some of the comic book characteristics of the past and to adhere to principles of good journalism. The result, then, is an all school yearbook, a book that emphasizes sophomore as well as senior; small organizations as well as big; curriculum as well as activity.

Rewards have reached the staff already. Yearbook sales are a record. Advertising is at a peak. Photos are for the most part, active, on-the-spot coverage. These rewards came in the search for the ultimate goal: a book that is truly GHS.

Night-time Goldsboro offers a view of downtown businesses that is as appealing as the businesses themselves.

"Great game, Bobby," says Bob Harris.

Closely woven are the four words, academics, activities, aesthetics, and athletics, which are the foundations for all growth at Goldsboro High School. Like the material foundation of the school building, however, they represent only the beginning of what might be a good construction. For it is the efforts, the work, the accomplishments, and yes, even the failures of the students, that can be paralleled to the lumber, mortar, steel, and brick added to the foundation to make it a stable and longlasting edifice. So it is that while these words—academics, activities, aesthetics, and athletics—are the basis for achievement, it is only the endeavor of the Goldsboro High School students that make it the institution of which they are proud.

For quick reference the Gohisca adds this year an activities index, an adult index, and the

From Degrees of Excitement to Intense Concentration

Mr. Twiford as a sports fan.

Tommy Tyson and Margie Smith as Wilmington sponsors.

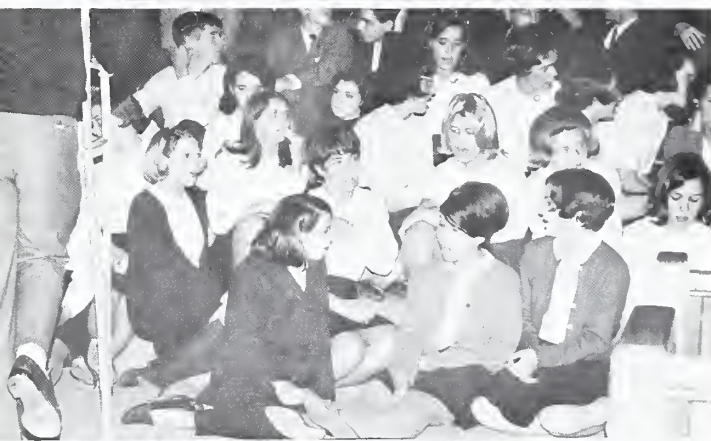

Mr. Crocker at a basketball game.

A bus ride home.

From the Everyday

Everyday at GHS means going to classes, eating in the lunchroom, getting a break during extracurricular participations, and endless hours of rehearsals and presentations.

Occasionally, though, things happen to enrich life—or jar it. Best of all this year, Miss Grant was chosen Goldsboro's most outstanding teacher and awarded a trip abroad. Karin Hedberg's parents visited from Sweden. Gym classes were spiced with guest performers. But Alonzo retired after 15 years of caring for GHS, and left a void.
